

ECE Engineering Entrepreneurship Series Presents:

"Too Smart for your own Good: What every engineer/technologist should know about starting and managing a business."

Speaker: Angel Mehta

Today, here @ 5:10 p.m.

Angel Mehta is the founder and managing director of Sterling-Hoffman, a management consulting firm with 150 employees that represents venture capital firms and their portfolio software companies in matters of corporate development and executive search. His clients include many leading venture firms such as: Bain Capital, Draper Fisher Jurvetson, Battery Ventures, and many others. He is also Editor-in-Chief of The Sterling Report, a monthly business journal for software CEOs, entrepreneurs and investors.

Prior to Sterling-Hoffman, Angel worked in business development with Siebel Systems, America's fastest growing company in 2000 (Fortune Magazine).